Flat Corn I

Picture Description¹⁾

A textured field of flattened, dried wheat stalks create a dense, interwoven pattern.

Analysis¹⁾

This photograph captures a close-up perspective of a field of harvested wheat, characterized by its intricate texture and muted color palette. The photograph predominantly features dried, golden-brown stalks and seed heads of wheat, lying in disarray across the ground. Sunlight casts a dappled effect, highlighting the variations in tone and adding depth to the composition. The high angle shot allows the viewer to appreciate the vastness and complexity of the field, transforming a simple scene into an abstract study of form and light.
