Walking together through Zurich

Picture Description¹⁾

A trio of images featuring pedestrians casting long shadows on urban streets, alongside road markings and architectural elements.

Analysis¹⁾

This series of three square format photographs explores the interplay of light and shadow on urban surfaces. Each photograph captures a different street scene, united by the common thread of elongated shadows cast by figures walking along the pavement. The stark contrast between the bright sunlit areas and the dark, distorted shadows creates a sense of surrealism and anonymity. The first photograph features a figure walking towards the viewer with prominent painted white direction markings on the ground. The second photograph is set in a narrower street with a bicycle parked along the side. The third photograph features two figures walking past a wrought iron door. The composition emphasizes the geometry of the built environment and the fleeting nature of human presence.
