Mount Ventoux II

Picture Description¹⁾

A black and white, long shot capturing a winding road ascending a grassy hill.

Analysis¹⁾

This black and white photograph captures a winding road ascending a large, grassy hill. The road, composed of dark asphalt, cuts through the landscape, leading the viewer's eye toward a summit where structures are faintly visible. The hillside is predominantly covered in short grasses, lending a soft texture to the scene. In the foreground, a concrete barrier and rocky terrain offer a stark contrast to the smooth road. The overall composition emphasizes the scale of the landscape and the human intervention that makes it accessible.
