At the Wall II

Picture Description¹⁾

A black and white photograph of the Berlin Wall covered in graffiti, with buildings and a street lamp in the background.

Analysis¹⁾

This black and white photograph captures a section of the Berlin Wall, heavily marked with graffiti. The wall stretches horizontally across the midground, its rough texture and layers of paint and markings clearly visible. Above the wall, large, rectangular buildings rise in the background under a cloudy sky. A street lamp stands tall on the right, its simple design contrasting with the chaotic and colorful graffiti on the wall. The photograph's stark contrast and composition evoke a sense of division, history, and the voices of the people expressed through street art.
