Tiffany in Women Street II

Picture Description¹⁾

Abstract black and white cityscape featuring a building facade, distorted reflections, and red geometric shapes.

Analysis¹⁾

This striking piece presents a layered urban landscape. At first glance, the eye is drawn to bold red geometric shapes—a hexagon and a pentagon—that disrupt the monochrome backdrop. Behind them, a cityscape emerges, marked by the repetition of windows and the angular lines of buildings. Superimposed on this scene are ghostly figures, barely discernible, adding a sense of ephemeral presence. The interplay of abstraction and representation creates a dynamic tension, leaving the viewer to contemplate the transient nature of urban existence and the ways in which personal identity is interwoven with the environment.
