Printed Eye

Picture Description<sup>1)</sup>

A close-up halftone photograph of an eye with a dark pupil and visible textures.

This captivating artwork, rendered in a striking halftone style, presents a close-up view of an eye. The pupil, a deep abyss of black, dominates the composition, drawing the viewer into its depths. The iris, rendered with intricate detail through the halftone pattern, exhibits a subtle texture and depth. The surrounding skin, also rendered in the same halftone style, suggests the delicate and fragile nature of human perception. The overall effect is both intriguing and slightly unsettling, forcing the viewer to confront their own gaze and perception of the subject.
